Canton High School
Canton, New York

Foreword

THAT, in the future, we may review with satisfaction our four years in the halls of Canton High School, and to keep green the traditions of our school, we, the Class of 1934, have recorded here some aspects of those years.

At the commencement of this undertaking, we set for ourselves high standards of excellence. Credit for whatever measure of success we have had in adhering to those standards is due the friends and advisers who have so willingly contributed their valuable time and services. To them, our sincere gratitude.

Dedication

TO George V. Smith—just “George” to seventeen years of Canton boys—than whom we have never known a truer friend or a more loyal rooter, in grateful appreciation of his friendship and good-humored services, the Class of 1934 dedicate this seventh “Algonquin”.

CLASS POEM

'Tis four short years since we set sail
Upon our ocean blue,
Manned by Captain Williams,
And the faculty, his crew.

These years have been most happy ones,
Both toil and joy combined.
But now 'tis time to disembark,
To leave our ship behind.

And now that we have reached the shore,
The goal we sought is won.
Many others stretch on before,
For life has but begun.

But through the years that are to come,
We'll live these four again,
For the memories will linger,
And the friendships will remain.

—Frances Howard.

CLASS SONG

(Tune: When We Build a Little Home)

Now we're leaving C. H. S.
We are sad to have to go,
But we feel we're taking something
That is really quite worth while.
Every single little dream
That we've cherished through the years
Has come true to us, the seniors,
Now we're leaving C. H. S.
We've been happy, oh so happy,
But now we find it's time to leave.
It's been our school, and we loved it,
Now you must carry on.
And with every step we're taking,
We are going further on;
All our troubles are not over,
Though we're leaving Canton High.

It's a school of great advantage,
And we've had its benefit,
Now we're thanking all you teachers
For your understanding bit.
The road of life is right before us
And we've got to work our way,
But the thoughts of this old schoolhouse
Will be with us every day.
We've had a good time, but a hard time,
Now we're free to pick our way;
Life's before us—but we're ready,
This is all that we can say.
We can struggle up the pathway
Of the fame that is to come,
Then we'll thank our dear old high school
For the help it gave us then.

—Marla Snyder and Aldine Stevens.

The Class of '34 are we,
Now embarking on our sea.
Active service have we seen.
From our Freshman year so green.

We had a party on St. Patrick's day,
Food tables decked in grand display.
I'll grant you'll not forget this line,
For we all had a peachy time!

The weeks went whizzing by,
In every heart there was great joy.
That last day of school we well remember.
Then around came September.

That was back in '31
When our school life had just begun.
That year was sleek on wing,
And soon the bell had ceased to ring.

When our Junior year had dawned,
All our last year's books we pawned.
Friendly faces—again it seemed
With many smiles that they all gleamed.

The Junior Prom was sure a wow!
The same success to others we endow.
The girls were dressed to look their best,
Ask anyone to tell the rest.

But that year came and went,
To us their seats the Seniors lent.
And full fledged Seniors we were made,
Memories of that will never fade.

But the best event of all
Was that great Senior Ball,
A dance we'll ne'er forget
And the fun we'll not regret!

Four years have we sailed that river
With its hazardous rocks and quiver.
Now we've embarked on the sea of life
Nor small will be the strife.

We know that we will meet the test
For our training has been the best.

—Leonard Fisk.

The Class Prophecy of 1934

This is station X. O. P. giving you the march of time program for 1954.

The whole world is in a state of disorder; no home is modern unless all the household furnishings are in ruins. The cause for such a commotion is the nomination of the first woman candidate, Frances Howard, to run opposite Benton Pike for the presidency of the United States.

Frank Pitts and Karl Mayhew have gone into the prize-fighting business. In a little while they expect to live on Easy Street, that is, if they are still alive.

Paul Warner is one of the best artists of the day. His career began over night when he drew a picture of a college professor and a noted critic thought it was Henry VIII.

David DePue is now a slim and graceful doctor. The change came to him when he began to use Harold Smith's Weight Producer. Harold is a pharmacist, you know.

The once silent Robert Coakley makes a lot of noise now. He's a carpenter, but he referees ball games on the side while his blue-eyed wife looks on.

Leonard Fisk is out west acting as sheriff. He tries to be serious and vicious but his attempts don't seem to affect the ladies.

Leona Beckstead is a famous detective but she could never figure out why her best boyfriend married her twin sister, Leola, now the happy mother of six children.

Ralph Dona has become a successful New York taxi driver, especially noted for turning corners by one wheel, the one with which he steers.

Martha Clark is in the vicinity of the Rio Grande. There are rumors which say that she is following certain bandits and others state that she is hunting for gold.

Dorothy Wade is the proprietress of a boarding house. Since one of her boarders informed her that he led a dog's life while married and because he growls now and then, she has economized by feeding him dog biscuits.

Donald Crary is an insurance agent. He puts on a hard look, doubles up his fists for effect, and sells a lot of life insurance.

The scientific writer, Merton Smith, has completed a book entitled "Science Dealing with Manners." It's splendid, all about why one should have manners and then use them.

There's a lady who works by the night instead of by the day. This is Madgeline Cota, a night nurse in the Potsdam Hospital.

Willmer Thomas is a chef in a Boston hotel and how he can cook angel food!

The saxophone owned by Francis Christensen has taken that boy far from home. He now plays in the Rochester Civic Orchestra.

George Crary is still wandering about looking for a job. He says he hasn't had one since he left Canton High.

Eileen Lynch is giving dancing lessons. The class is strictly select.

Could you imagine Aldine Stevens running a truck farm? Well, she does and she calls it "Clifford's Garden of Eden."

Anna Barber has become the nightingale of America since she began singing over the radio at night.

Helen Tupper is the matron of an orphan asylum. She keeps the children quiet by playing the latest hits of the season on her piano.

Ethel Peters is in the movies playing opposite a red-headed man.

Ruth McKimm is running her own farm and I guess she is making as much money as the rest of the farmers.

Bernita Rexford is teaching in the little white school house on the Pierrepont road. She loves this road because it brings back memories of the time when she used to wear her shoes out on it in the days gone by.

And now for a surprise! Bette Hunter is in Lake Placid doing fancy ice skating. They say she draws quite a crowd.

Marla Snyder has joined the Jolly Ring Circus. She does trapeeze stunts. But then, everyone knew she had high aspirations.

Harriet Sellers is someone's stenog. That someone is her husband. No sir, she doesn't believe in taking any chances.

Diantha Purvee has just realized the desire of her heart. She is putting a house in order on Lincoln Street.

Frances Cotter has gone to Paris to study. She has decided that everyone should study the Parisian styles.

Emery Bacon is a missionary in China. Lawrence McDermid is there too. He has explored the whole country and is now writing an address to be given when he returns home. Emery will give the address, by the way.

Dorothy Wood is the Justice of Peace in Canton and she says she can marry anyone. Well, she always was lucky.

My radio audience, Oscar Howard is in Reno. No, it's nothing serious. He has been there a long time selling real estate and it is said that he is making lots of money.

Geraldine Northrup is the postmistress at Morley and she is capable of reading very illegible addresses.

Mildred Taylor is a physical directress in a girls' college. She can do everything but fly.

To our surprise, Myron McDermid has become an outstanding taxidermist known far and wide for his gold fish mountings.

I have an important notice here. Ernestine Taylor is in the fur trading business. While she is operating her gun the safest person is the one standing next to her.

In the New York Times I have just read that Kathleen Brown, a W. C. T. U. worker, has started a great movement in southern New York by her speaking. All the people down there are moving north. Also I glanced at the Homemakers' Column edited by Nettie Mouthorp.

Cornelius Mahoney is manufacturing alarm clocks. He states that an alarm clock is your best friend because it goes, it runs and it is usually on time.

The voice of Betty Boop which reaches our radio audience is none other than that of Dorothy Crary.

Catherine Navan is in Rochester working in the Eastman Kodak Company but she wishes it known that she is not going to slave all her life.

Oh! I forgot to tell you that Clifford Bartholomew's dairy is located right next to Aldine's truck farm. Well, what of it?

The time has marched by and now station X. O. P. is signing off. Your announcer is Helen Mack.

The Senior Will

We, the Class of 1934, being sound of mind and memory do hereby make and publish this, our last Will and Testament:

To the Board of Education we leave a new heating plant so that school can keep regardless of the water supply.

To Mr. Williams we bequeath all our ideas on "Clubbing a High School."

To Mr. Doren we leave the right to take his classes on field trips if he promises to keep them away from the water.

To Mr. Blankman we leave a memorandum pad to jog his memory.

To Mr. Danforth we leave a billy club to "bust up" the crowds in the lower hall.

To Mr. Oliver we give best wishes for more championship teams.

To Mr. Cram we leave a portable piano and a room to keep it in.

To Mr. Smith we leave an automatic stoker so that he won't have to get up so early in the morning.

To Mrs. Cunningham we leave the right to teach square dances to the Noon-Hour Club.

To Miss Barber we leave a bell boy to save her the trouble of ringing the bell.

To Miss Morgan the Virgil class leaves all its "trots" so that the class of '35 won't get them.

To Miss Gage we leave an autographed copy of our sequel to "Mr. Middlerib and the Bee."

To Miss Scurrah we leave a ticket to Ogdensburg.

To Miss Currie we bequeath a few more courses to break the monotony of her present schedule.

To Miss Roche we leave a pad for the radiator in her room so that she won't get burned.

To Miss Sanford we bequeath the dishes that are left after the boys have finished their course in cooking.

To Mrs. McRostie we give thanks for her pleasant smile and cheerful manner.

To the entire Faculty, we express a hope that some day they will again have a class like ours; a class which has caused them so little trouble, so little anxiety, and so much happiness.

We bequeath to the underclassmen our ability, wisdom, understanding, knowledge, patience, trustworthiness, kindness, promptness, and loyalty as students of the Canton High School.

Willie Thomas leaves his love for one girl to Billy Walsh.

Bette Hunter leaves her affection for C. H. S. to Emmett Murphy.

Marla Snyder leaves her bag of smiles and sunshine to Happy Clark.

Leonard Fisk bequeaths his ability to make paper flowers to John Heaton.

Myron McDermid leaves his boisterousness to Eddie McCormick.

Ethel Peters leaves her "I'll Be Faithful" to Maxwell Fisk.

Nettie Mouthorp wills her snapping black eyes to Dorothy Race.

Harold Smith leaves to Marian Roach the right to sleep in Business English class.

Aldine Stevens leaves her willing smile to Arleen Boyden.

Clifford Bartholomew leaves his right to bring girls to school to Dutch Kahala.

Francis Christensen leaves his childish ways to Doc Sanford.

Ernestine Taylor leaves her shyness to Sadie Woods.

Geraldine Northrup leaves her title as belle of Morley to Doris McDonald.

Oscar Howard leaves his art of expression and ability to concentrate to Margaret Dean.

Spud Mayhew donates a box of Chicken Dinners and a carton of cigarettes to Mr. Williams for letting him out last period to work.

Lawrence McDermid leaves his shyness to Wilfred Lytle.

Anna Barber leaves her little white toque to Orpha Gillette.

Leola and Leona Beckstead leave their right to be twins to Anne Robins and Constance Crump.

Kathleen Brown leaves her quiet ways to Elizabeth Rebert.

Catherine Navan wills her studiousness to Barbara MacVey.

Harriet Sellers leaves her golden locks to Minnie Foote.

Merton Smith leaves his unfinished dissertation on "Why Women Love Me" to John Smith.

Benton Pike leaves his monopoly on the Pierrepont road to anyone who thinks he can get it.

Martha Clark leaves her winning smile to Mary Elizabeth Pike.

Helen Mack leaves her ability as a novelist to Maefred Woods.

Madgeline Cota leaves her habit of staying after school to do her lessons to Paul McCollum.

Eileen Lynch leaves her baby stare to Gloria Briggs.

Robert Coakley leaves his one and only girl to Claude Dishaw.

Emery Bacon leaves his quiet and unassuming manner to Ledyard Pfund.

Donald Crary leaves his innocent smile to Helene Safford.

David DePue bestows his private collection of alibis upon anyone who needs them.

Ralph Dona leaves his distinctive stride to Buster Lawrence.

Dorothy Crary leaves her technique to Dolly Banta.

Diantha Purvee leaves Bill to the Commercial Department.

Bernita Rexford leaves her girlish blushes to Irene Mott.

Frances Howard leaves the use of the French room to Miss Scurrah.

Helen Tupper leaves her agricultural tendencies to Ruth Peters.

Cornelius Mahoney leaves his agility and quickness of speech to Robert Sims.

George Crary leaves his forensic ability to Herbert Judd.

Ruth McKimm leaves her Model T to Delilah Robinson so that Delilah won't have to walk home.

Dorothy Wood leaves the spare tire of her gas buggy to Evelyn Coller.

Dorothy Wade leaves her freckles to Helen Wires.

Mildred Taylor leaves her love for clothes to Jeanne Burrowes.

Frances Cotter leaves her hairdressing ability to Grace Van Hying.

In Witness Whereof, We, the Class of 1934, set our hand and seal, this twenty-third day of June, in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirty-four.

The most important event of the year, the annual Junior Prom, was a success both financially and socially. Everyone had a grand time dancing to the melodious music of Charlie Wade's Society Orchestra. During the winter, we had a sleigh ride, after which we returned to high school and danced.

We are all eagerly looking forward to next year when we will be dignified Seniors.

FOOTBALL

Canton High marched through the 1933 football season, winning five of the eight scheduled games. On November 4th, C. H. S., hampered by the lack of reserves, played a hard game with O. F. A. for the Championship of the Northern New York League, in which the final score stood 24-0, in favor of O. F. A.

Perhaps the best game of the season was the regular League game with Ogdensburg. After two days of pep-meetings, C. H. S. played inspired football and won, from the same team that defeated her the next week, by a score of 20-7. The Gouverneur game, which was later forfeited, was another interesting encounter in which C. H. S. displayed fine style and sportsmanship. The upset of the season was Malone's 26-6 victory over us.

As a result of excellent teamwork, Coakley, W. Thomas, Wheeler, Crary, Mayhew, Endersbee, and Coleman, did the scoring.

The Class of '34 wishes next year's team as successful a season as this one.

BASKETBALL

On March 16, 1934, Canton High closed her 1933-34 basketball season by losing to Potsdam High by a score of 31-18 in a game which determined the Champions of the Northern New York Basketball League. The week before, C. H. S. handed O. F. A. a stinging 30-21 defeat to win the right to oppose Potsdam in the Championship game and, as it later developed, to be runner-up for the basketball championship.

The Varsity won fifteen of her twenty-three scheduled games, running up a total of 643 points as against the 514 points scored by its opponents. With the exception of one or two slumps, the team functioned perfectly throughout the season. In addition to the regular League games, C. H. S. played against Carthage, St. Lawrence Frosh, Aggies, Madrid, Waddington, DeKalb, Pyrites, and the Alumni. Of these, they defeated the last six.

The letter men were Captain Coakley, Manager Pike, W. Thomas, F. Thomas, Kahala, Coleman, Sanford, Wheeler, and Murphy.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

In the 1933-34 basketball season, Canton High produced its first champion girls' basketball team in six years, by defeating O. F. A. in the last game of the season, thus winning glory for itself and its school.

Perhaps the two most outstanding games of the season were those with Ogdensburg Free Academy. C. H. S. won both; the first by a score of 26-19, and the second by a score of 15-12.

The team that brought credit to C. H. S. consisted of Marla Snyder and Mary Howard, forwards; Martha Clark, center; Dorothy Crary and Frances Howard, guards. Harriet Clark, Leona Johnson, Helen Tupper, and Jessie Gillett were the ablest substitutes. The successful team had Aldine Stevens for its manager.

Although four of the first five players are to be graduated, next year's team must uphold the reputation already won.

TRACK, WRESTLING, INTRAMURAL

After Easter vacation, most of last year's cinder-path team reported for work-outs. The relay team had to be rebuilt, but otherwise, Canton High was as strong as she was last year. In addition to his more experienced men, Coach Oliver had several new runners to pick from. The Freshmen seemed to show an added interest and from this year's results, Coach Oliver found that he had some excellent material to replace the men who are to be graduated.

Wrestling and Intramural basketball were again promoted by the Athletic Association and again proved successful. In wrestling, two men, Harry Wheeler and Glenn Thomas, placed second in their class at the St. Lawrence Wrestling Tournament. In Intramural, Southern California, Navy, Northwestern, and Clarkson finished the season in the order named. Four other teams failed to place but every fellow in school had a chance to play, if he wanted to.

THE MASQUERS

President Richard Given
Vice-President Dorothy Crary

The year of 1933-34 has proven very successful in respect to the social and business activities of the Masquers. After the annual fall play, "It Won't Be Long Now," four seniors and five sophomores were initiated at

X. Y. Z.? FRATERNITY

President Willmer Thomas
 Vice President Bart Lynch
 Secretary and Treasurer Mark O'Driscoll

When our fraternity was started in 1908, its sponsors expressed their doubt as to the permanence of the organization by placing the ? after its name. All doubts soon faded, but the ? remained to spur us on to further development.

Our members are chosen for their prestige in athletics, scholastic ability, activity in school life, and good fellowship.

This year has been brightened by X. Y. Z.? tea dances, athletic contests, and a sleigh ride.

—Willmer Thomas.

Tommy Partlow—"Why do you leave that ancient car of yours parked in front of the house?"

Billy Sheridan—"Well, if I left it in the alley, somebody might dump ashes in it."

* * * *

Mrs. Cunningham—"Give me an example of nonsense."

Gummp DePue—"An elephant hanging over a cliff with his tail tied to a daisy."

* * * *

Customer—"Your prices are too high. Why, your charge for face lifting is frightful."

Frances Cotter (Beauty Shop Manager)—
"Possibly so, Madam, but you must remember, so is your face."

* * * *

Dottie Crary—"Donnie, I have a surprise for you."

Donnie Crary—"I know what it is—big brother is home for his vacation."

Dottie—"How did you know?"

Donnie—"My bank doesn't rattle any more."

* * * *

Miss Morgan—"Mary, translate this passage: Caesar sic dicat on de cur et egesse lictum."

Mary Pike—"Caesar sicked the cat on the cur and I guess he licked him."

* * * *

Aldine Stevens—"Where is your chivalry?"

Clifford Bartholomew—"I turned it in for a Buick."

* * * *

Harold Smith—"I'm not going to school any more."

Miss Roche—"Why not?"

Harold—"I can't learn anything. The teachers keep changing the lessons every day."

Stine Taylor—"How did Frances make out with those 69c stockings?"

Betty Brown—"Oh, she got a run for her money."

* * * *

Bob Coakley—"I'm going to marry a girl who is a good driver and also a good housekeeper."

Myron McDermid—"You can't They'll get you for bigamy."

* * * *

Helen Mack—"Do you feel like a cup of tea?"

Anna Barber—"Of course not—do I look like one?"

* * * *

Billy Walsh—"Lend me a nickel, I want to call up a friend."

Cliff Bartholomew—"Here's a dime. Call up all your friends."

* * * *

Claudie Dishaw—"I suppose the court gave your wife half of your property."

Leonard Fisk (divorced husband)—"Yes, fifty-fifty. She got the radio and I got the installments."

* * * *

Edna Wight—"I notice you are wearing your stockings wrong side out."

Helen Phalon—"Yes, my feet got warm—so I turned the hose on them."
